A LITTLE BIT OF HISTORY

A friendly wager between friends led to the Quindanning Picnic Races being held in a tradition that has lasted till this day.

Over a few drinks at the local watering hole in Quindanning, the then licensee, Bob Burns and the Quindanning lads, Len Little Junior and Geoff Reid, made a challenge over who had the better horse. A wager of $100 was set, an offer to use Rob and Ros Venn's property, was made, and a day was set for New years Day 1978.

Word soon got around and the event attracted some 800 spectators. As a result of the days' success it was decided to resurrect the Quindanning Picnic Race Club which had disbanded in 1941.

Known as the "Brumby Races", the club was originally formed in 1919. Families would arrive at the races with a horse and cart, boil the Billy, race the horse, harness up again and go home.

The resurrection of the races in 1978 has seen the Quindanning Picnic Races become a popular way to spend Easter Saturday.

The Quindanning Picnic Race Club is totally non-profit making, with all funds raised going to charities in the district. Main beneficiaries over the years have been the Quindanning Bush Fire Brigade, the Boddington St. John Ambulance and the Quindanning Hall.

Held in a bush setting, with rustic bar and building, the emphasis on the day is having a good time in true Aussie bush style. Starting off with a Gymkhana in the morning, the day consists of many novelties, including senior and junior barrel races, and hack and pony races in the afternoon.

The main event of the day is the annual Quindanning Cup, a Powder Puff Derby, donkey events and stock horse race for the locals, add colour to the day.

Live Entertainment keeps the evening swinging and camping overnight is encouraged.

Hot showers are available and yards for the campers horses. Delicious hot food is also prepared and available throughout the day, and on Friday night for campers. Hot country breakfasts are available on Sunday for campers.
